

Explanation of Terms on the ABBI Work Order

New Breeder: A person or member of a partnership that has not applied for an ABBI breeder number or previously had an ABBI breeder number. New Breeder Pricing is available for the first 12 months of membership.

Animal Registration: You may register any animal that has not previously been registered. If the dam of the animal is not in your inventory, you will need a dam authorization form in order to run the animal to the dam. The animal does not need to have registered parents for you to register it. You may register either online or by sending in a completed and signed Application for Registration, blood or hair sample, and complete payment.

Birth Year Registration: Registration of animals during the calendar year they were born in.

USDA Premise ID: You must have a USDA Premise ID on file with us in order to receive your EID tags. You can get a Premise ID from your state's USDA office. Please visit this page to find the phone number for your state's USDA office: www.americanbuckingbull.com/news/new-eid-tag/

EID Tag ordered after Birth Year Registration: The animal must have been registered in their birth year, and an EID tag was not ordered at the time of Birth Year Registration. If the animal was not registered in their birth year, then the animal must be taken to an ABBI-certified veterinarian between 18-34 months from their registered birth date in order to get an EID tag. The EID Tag Order Form is required for this option

EID Tag Reorder: If an animal has lost their EID tag, you may send in a sample with the reorder fee and we will send you out a new tag. The EID Tag Reorder Form is required for this option

Additional DNA Research: If an animal does not match parents given at the time of registration, you may submit additional parents for us to run. This fee does not apply to parent lists given at time of registration.

Voluntary Resubmit: If you believe that a sample from the wrong animal was submitted, or you believe the animal should have matched the submitted parents and it didn't, you may submit a new sample for processing. If you only want to submit additional parents, please use the Additional DNA Research form, and do not submit a new sample. If the original sample is marked Failed Testing, you may submit a new sample for no charge.

Comparison: If you are not sure whether or not an animal is registered, or if you do not know which registered animal it is, you may send in a sample with the comparison fee and a list of possible registered animals and we will compare the new sample to the animals on the list.

Transfer of Animal: For when you want to put a previously registered animal into your inventory. The original certificate is required, and you must fill out the transfer form on the back of the certificate

Cataloging: If you do not want to register your calf during the birth year but do not want to pay the higher fee for registering older animals, you may send in the completed cataloging form and a sample with the cataloging fee during the animal's birth year. You then have two years to register the animal for the registration fee of $60.
